RE: Docket #: 98N-1230, 96P-0418, 97P-0197

To Whom It May Concern,

I am astonished + sickened by the information I have read about the US Egg Industry. Forcing ~~to~~ hens to lay an extreme amount of eggs by starvation is harmful to not only the hens, but also humans. Forced starvation = forced molting = weakened immune system. This causes + can produce Salmonella. So if you care not for the birds, at least think of the affects it has on humans. The FDA should ban forced molting not based only on public rejection + protest, but because of the scientific proof that supports this letter. The proof is received by the US Dept. of Agricultural Food Safety + Inspection Service (FSIS). Thank you for your time + consideration.
